

PINOT GRIGIO

2008

With a reputation for consistent quality it comes as no surprise that the latest Long Flat Pinot Grigio is another sure winner for the team.

It has a grand array of tropical fruit aromas, along with pear and crisp apples. Then, to the flavour department with the taste of apples continuing, along with a slice or two of citrus.

It is not only quality, but on sale at an economically friendly price. Winemakers are still producing decent wines at under $10 a bottle. Shane Virgo heads the team at Long Flat, with a long history in winemaking skills at Petaluma.

Do I need to say any more?
